

Opera Workshop with Audrey Stottler

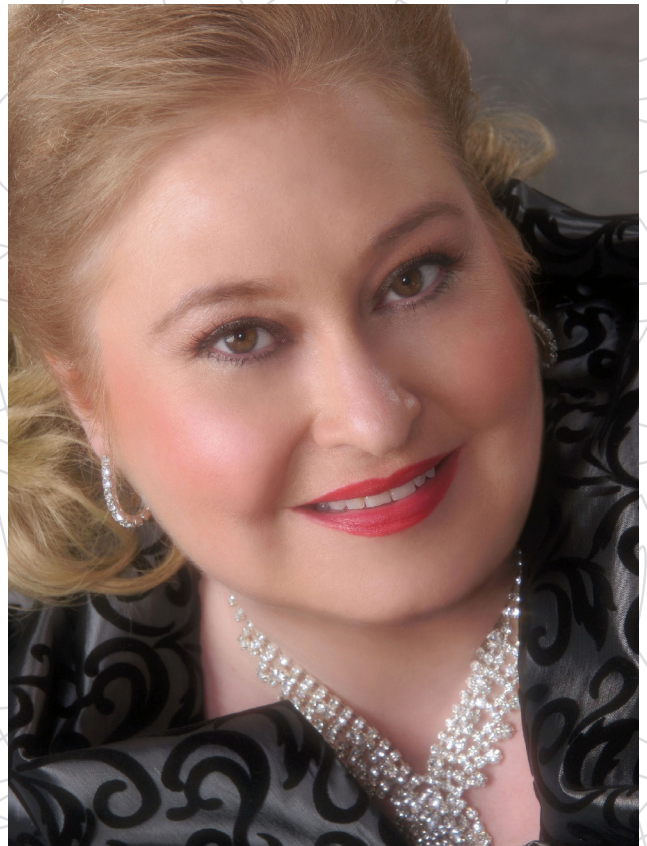

Why travel across the country when you can study with a world-renowned performer and teaching artist in Minneapolis? Audrey Stottler, of the New York Metropolitan Opera, will be presenting an Opera Workshop at MacPhail Center for Music for classical voice students. The workshop is open to all students studying classical music, lieder, opera arias and art songs. No audition is necessary to participate. Students are asked to prepare 1-3 selections for study.
